Add users to your organization

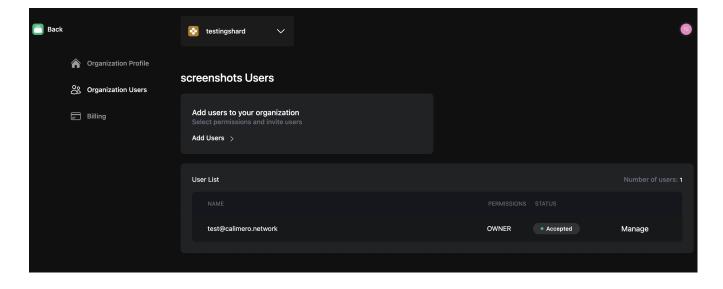

Adding users to your Calimero organization is a crucial step in fostering efficient collaboration and project management. Here's how you can seamlessly invite and integrate new members into your organization:

- Log in to your Calimero account using your credentials.
- Click on the settings icon to direct you to your organization dashboard

• In your organization dashboard click on Organization users

- Enter the email addresses of the individuals you wish to invite to your organization.
- Define roles and permissions for each invited user. Choose from roles like administrators, developers, contributors, or customize permissions based on your organization's structure.

• Review the entered information, roles, and permissions. Once everything is accurate, click the invite similar button to send the invites.

Invitation Notification

Invited users will receive email notifications containing instructions to accept the invitation and join your organization.
